Creating and shaping texts	Text structure and composition	Sentence construction and punctuation
I can make good vocabulary choices (adjectives, adverbs, verbs) to describe characters and settings.	I can write similar ideas in paragraphs or sections.	I am beginning to write more complex sentences using a range of connectives.
I can write interesting details of events to entertain the reader or develop tension.	I can sequence my events, which are well explained, with a suitable resolution.	I can use a comma to show pauses in sentences.
I can develop description of characters by including speech, feelings or emotion using interesting vocabulary.	I can use repetition for emphasis.	I can use "" correctly to show when a character is speaking ("Hello" bellowed Bob.)
In non-fiction, I am beginning to use paragraphs, bullet points or headings to separate sections in my writing. My writing matches the headings.		I can use past tense for narration (walked, wrote) and present tense for speech ("Stop doing that!")
In non fiction, I can begin with an introduction and end with a detailed conclusion.		I can use apostrophes for contractions (don't, can't).
I can write with some evidence of viewpoint.		I can join my letters fluently.
